

WHAT DRY-FARMING MEANS TO THE FARMER

By H. C. KING, Secretary Board of Trade

Summary of Lectures Delivered at the Seventh Congress of Dry-Farming at Lethbridge Jotted Down by Board of Trade Secretary and Should Prove Valuable Information to those who Couldn't Attend

"Well, Mr. Secretary of the Board of Trade, did you tell the people at Lethbridge that this was not a dry-farming country?" was the greeting I received from a prominent citizen on my return here. "No," I replied, "that's what I intended doing but they soon showed me that Alberta was a dry-farming country. Dr. R. H. Bailey, of New York states that water is the essential consideration in dry-farming, otherwise there would be no dry-farming."

The critical element in dry-farming is water and that being so, I think the Wainwright farmers will agree that there must be something in this new method of farming. The annual rainfall will vary from year to year with a result that the dry year, or the spring with a precipitation below the average, is sure to come and this was the year it did come, with the result that we had second growth. The lesson to be learned then is to conserve the moisture in the soil during the wet seasons and so prevent a failure when the drought comes. This can be done by summer tillage of summer fallow, by deep ploughing at the right time, in the right way.

The rainfall in this district is sufficient to produce profitable crops. The only question before the farmer is one of conservation, so that the moisture is in the ground at the right time. The right time is the early spring, when the seed is in the ground, for the plants absorb more moisture the first thirty days than at any other time. Just at the time the water is required the rains fail to come, with the result that the growth is delayed and crops are late and often frozen. Plow deep, and don't plow more one day than can be disced and harrowed the next.

NO SIGN OF FANATICISM IN ANY OF THE MISSION SERVICES HELD HERE

Many Communicants Confessed Faith as Result of Mission of Help Held Here Last Week by Able Missionaries - Rev. Mr. Rogers Goes to Ontario

The mission, held at the Church of England here all last week and conducted by Rev. T. Guy Rogers, M. A., B. D., and Rev. W. E. G. Paul, B. A., closed on Monday evening. Services of various kinds were held each day and a celebration of Holy Communion took place every morning at 7.30, the number at the latter gradually increasing until Friday there were nineteen communicants.

Rev. Mr. Rogers, the missionary, was a man of great earnestness and power. He did not indulge in the methods of some revivals, but was quiet, thoughtful and searching in all he said. There was no sign of fanaticism. On the other hand, his services were very solemn and his words went home with power and often he told the congregation that it was God, the Holy Spirit's work and that he relied on Him alone.

The Rev. W. E. G. Paul spoke to the children every day on the subject of "The Kingdom" and on Saturday evening gave a very thoughtful and heart searching address at the Intercession service. From here, Rev. Mr. Paul goes to Battleford to superintend missions and he carries with him the good wishes of his appreciative hearers, who were

The practice of turning the sod in big, rough furrows and left all summer is the right way to let out the moisture in the soil. At seed time the ground is as dry as a bone, the seed fails to germinate, sometimes germinates and dies off and regerminates, and every time this occurs the seed deteriorates. Moisture is lost in three ways, - by downward seepage, whereby it passes beyond the reach of plant roots; by direct evaporation, from the surface soil and by evaporation by the plants themselves.

By mulching the ground often, the moisture is kept in the soil and can be retained and stored up season after season. By the use of the harrow all weeds and plant life is destroyed and thus the loss of moisture is prevented. The ground is in such condition that every shower of rain is drawn down beneath the surface, the soil is in a condition for conducting the water and the moisture already there is an attraction for all the surface water.

If you have moisture at all times, then you have no setback in the growth from that source, and, provided that the soil preparation has been such that is charged with moisture, the various salts desired by plant life, failure will practically be a thing of the past.

I have no hesitation in stating that the system of farming practised by some of the farmers in this district is all guess work. We are so used to failure and disappointment that we have come to the conclusion that this is not a grain-growing country, but a mixed farming country. I venture to say that if mixed farming is carried on in the same haphazard way as the grain farming is done, mixed farming would be a fizzle also.

privileged to be associated with him here.

On Sunday, the services were very impressive. In the morning the subject was "The Demoniac's return to his own people to testify what the Lord had done for him." In the afternoon the subject at the men's service was "Be Sober, be Vigilant." The missionary showed three essentials of the strong life were, a life of faith, a life of welfare and a life of discipline, illustrating from Pilgrim's Progress. In the evening the church was packed to its utmost at which service the subject for text was, "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting."

Although there has been no demonstration of excitement, many have expressed their acceptance of Christ by taking a resolution card. The closing service on Monday evening was particularly impressive. The missionary's text was chosen from Philippians 4-19, "My God shall supply all your need." A large number were gathered and the words spoken touched all present. After the Benediction, the congregation rose and sang "God be with you till we meet again."

LOCAL COAL DEALER OFFERS COMPLAINT TO FREIGHT SERVICE

States that Four Cars of Coal Have been on Road for Over 10 Days

COMING FROM EDMONTON
Matter For Board of Trade to Look into and Remedy If Possible

Much dissatisfaction is being expressed locally over the freight service being extended by the G. T. P. and in addition to what was expressed last week in regard to delayed shipments in flour, local coal dealers are complaining of delays in cars from Telford and Edmonton.

H. Y. Pawling is the more recent complainant and he claims that four cars have been on the road from these points for more than ten days and that all efforts to have them brought here have proved futile.

WILSON IN THE LEAD ROOSEVELT SECOND

Returns not yet complete give Governor Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic candidate in the American presidential race yesterday, a very large majority. Democrats carried Boston by a majority of 60,000 and New York by 100,000. The Progressive candidate will probably come second.

BUFFALO HEAD TO GRACE COUNCIL CHAMBER IN TOWN HALL

Practically Certain that Government will Grant Request of Town Council

Superintendent McTaggart, of the local buffalo park, announces that the request of the board of trade for a carcass of buffalo head has been granted and that a quarter will be given over to the board when the animals are slain next month. Arrangements are now being made accordingly and the assurance is given that buffalo steak will be one of the items on the extensive bill of fare at the annual banquet next month.

From the fact that application was made for a buffalo head, to be served at this banquet, Wainwright has received no small amount of advertising and publicity all over Canada, for the probability is that this will be the first occasion in recent years that buffalo meat has adorned the tables at a banquet of this kind. Undoubtedly the meat will be a little tough, but this matters little to the board of trade, for the steak of this kind on a menu card will be as unique as it will prove novel.

The STAR will issue a special Christmas number on Thursday, December 19th, and the production will be the best yet attempted by this publication. Ample time will be afforded advertisers to secure space. Get in on it at once by speaking for desirable locations.

his last mission before returning to England, and may God speed accompany both he and Rev. Mr. Paul, in return for their good work here.

START MADE ON NEW PLACE OF AMUSEMENT

Local Men Take Initiative and will Have New Opera House in Operation Before Christmas Season

A start was made yesterday morning on the new opera house which will be erected on Main Street in front of the skating rink, and those who are at the bottom of the scheme state that the building will be completed in the next two months and perhaps sooner.

Several moving picture men have visited here recently with a view to erecting a moving picture house and all of them have abandoned the idea. The matter was but recently taken up by certain local men, who have now started the construction of a combined opera house, concert hall, moving picture house and dance hall. The building will have a frontage of forty feet and will be ninety feet deep, which should answer all practical purposes for some time to come.

DR. WATSON WILL REMOVE TO EDSON

Local Practitioner Intends Taking Advantage of Other Offers made Him

Dr. W. A. Watson, who has been located here since the spring of 1908, will leave for Edson this week where he expects to remain in future. This announcement was made by Dr. Watson yesterday and he will likely leave for his new home on Friday next.

Coming to Wainwright from Chicago in the early days of the town, Dr. Watson was one of the pioneers who experienced the same experiences characteristic of any new western town. At that time he was the only physician in these parts and succeeded in working up a good practice.

From the various associations and societies in the town, he will be greatly missed, for he has taken a live interest in matters of this kind. During his stay here, he has sat at the council board, been president of the local athletic association and was connected with other organizations, besides being the medical health officer.

SNOW PREVENTS STOOK THRESHING

Recent flurries of snow have practically put a stop to stook threshing in this district and farmers are again brought face to face with the advantages of stacking grain.

There is not a large amount of grain in the former condition, although for the number of acres seeded there is far too much still lying in the fields. This grain must either be stacked, or warmer weather, which is unlikely at this time, must be awaited.

WILL SUBDIVIDE INTO 5 AND 10 ACRE PLOTS FOR SMALL FARMERS

Quarter Section Near Town to be Sold for Gardening Purposes

ENQUIRIES FROM ENG.
Good Features Seen in Present High Price of Garden Products

"Ab" Mills, the aggressive local manager of the Wainwright Realty Co., announces that his company will shortly subdivide into five and ten acre plots the N. W. 1 of 5-45-6 and place these on sale for gardening purposes.

Numerous enquiries have been received by this company from the Old Country asking for plots of land, near town. Mr. Mills is of the opinion that the subdividing of this particular quarter section, which is north of here and adjoining the original townsite will not only be profitable for his company but that the location of gardeners in the immediate vicinity of town will tend to greatly decrease the cost of garden products, which at the present time remain almost beyond reach of the ordinary man.

It is likely that this particular quarter section will be segmented at once, so that the plots will be available in the spring. One good feature of the land is that it is closer in than some of the subdivisions now being sold in the East, at a price of $100 per 25 feet frontage.

FIRE CHIEF LEWIS WILL NOT ASSUME ANY OF RESPONSIBILITY

Says Fire Equipment is Not Being Protected from the Frost

In the absence of Mayor Pawling from town, Coun. Musson occupied the chair at the council board last night, and the main business transacted was in connection with the completion of the fire hall and the consideration of Auditor Blythe's report, the report of the latter appearing in another column.

After the usual routine business, the fact that the fire hall was not completed was brought up, following a communication from Fire Chief Lewis to the effect that he would not assume any responsibility for the brigade or the fire apparatus in view of the equipment being improperly housed.

Mr. John Berry, who has the contract for the completion of the fire hall, appeared before the council and gave his reasons for the work being delayed. He complained that he could not get the plumbers to work and that they demanded their money before they would commence. Coun. Crawford stated in reply to this that they had promised to start at once, on condition that the town guaranteed payment of their work. Contractor Berry thought that if this was the case the building would be in proper shape for the storage of the fire apparatus in a very few days.

S. REPORT FROM COMMITTEES
Coun. Crawford, Chairman of the Board of Works, reported the completion of the grading at the rink and that it was in proper shape for flooding. Chairman Mills of the Finance Comm. submitted a number of accounts which were passed. Coun. Snyder, Chairman of Health, Parks and Cemetery

FURTHER SHORTAGE OF $932 REPORTED BY AUDITOR BLYTHE

Auditor Commends Secretary's Work in Compiling of Information

SHORTAGE OCCURRED IN 1910 BUSINESS TAX

Shortage Must be Paid Over to Town Sometime Before Tomorrow

In the report of Auditor Blythe, the chartered accountant whose services were secured by the town council to check up the findings of Secretary Kenny, who last week reported a shortage in the town's funds of $1875.26, it is now shown that the real shortage is $2,807.73, the additional $932.47 being the amount of business taxes collected during 1910.

In giving his report, which was submitted in writing at last night's council meeting, Auditor Blythe stated that he had gone carefully into Secretary Kenny's inspection and that with few exceptions the report was correct and that much credit was due him for the manner in which the situation had been investigated. Secretary Kenny's findings to the extent of $1875.26 had occurred in the manipulation of the tax rolls by the late secretary-treasurer. Auditor Blythe also reported that he could find no ledger and he had therefore opened a new set of books.

After this had been read by Acting Mayor Musson, it was moved by Coun. Snyder and seconded by Coun. Mills that a demand be made on H. V. Fieldhouse for $932.47 and that he be given until Thursday, November 7th to make payment to the town and also that he be asked to give satisfactory security in the shape of personal bond or realty security for $4923.19, the amount of the arrears of taxes shown on the 1912 tax roll. The motion carried.

This was followed by another motion, introduced by Coun. Beaudry and Mills that a further demand be made on Mr. Fieldhouse for $75, the expense of audit as per agreement. It was adopted with the same unanimity as the first.

It is understood that part of the $4,923.19 security will be released from time to time, when the arrears which now appear on the books are paid in. The amount of the demand, however, must, by the motion made last night, be paid over to the town at once.

Mr. C. D. Wincholt has leased Robt. Wright's hall on Third Avenue and in future, commencing tonight, will hold a dance every Wednesday night.

Liggett's - chocolates, $1.25 per pound. Best on the market. Get them at the Wainwright Wainwright Pharmacy.

Comm. reported on account of Small Bros., which was referred to the board of health for report.

MAY GET BUFFALO HEAD
Coun. Snyder reported that he had taken it upon himself to ask the department of Interior through Superintendent McTaggart for a buffalo head for the new council chamber and a favourable communication was submitted from Ottawa stating that a head would probably be donated to the town, providing that the cost of mounting was borne by the municipality. The matter will be taken up after the buffalo bulls are killed off next month.

NEW COMMISSIONER INSPECTS PARK FOR FIRST TIME IN OFFICE

Commissioner Harvey Leaves Killing of Buffalo with Superintendent

FAVORS SHOOTING THEM

Thinks Park is Being Well Taken Care of By Man in Charge

The new Commissioner of Dominion Parks, Mr. P. C. B. Harvey, paid his first visit to the local buffalo park last week and left here well pleased with the care that is being exercised at the reserve and satisfied that Superintendent McTaggart has things in the shape they should be.

Commissioner Harvey visited here to make his first official inspection and at the same time made arrangements for disposing of the forty or more old buffalo bulls which will be done away with. The matter was left entirely in the hands of Superintendent McTaggart, who favors shooting the buffalo sometime next month.

Another matter was also considered while Commissioner Harvey was here and this was the application of the town council for a buffalo head for the new council chamber. There is every reason to believe that this will be granted and that a monarch bull's head will have a place in the new building through the kindness of the department and the new commissioner.

SCHOOL ELECTION WILL BE NECESSARY

Terms of Three School Trustees Expire at Close of Year

With the close of the present year, the terms of office of Messrs. W. E. Washburn, J. L. Gerow and H. V. Fieldhouse will have expired from the local School Board and it is thought that with the exception of Trustee Fieldhouse, who expects to leave for the Coast in a short time, they will offer themselves for re-election.

Trustee Washburn, who has sat on the school board for the past three years, and who was chairman of the board during 1911, has intimated that he will retire. This, if it proves the case, will be regretted, although it will not follow without strong pressure being brought to bear on Trustee Washburn in recognition of the interest he has taken in educational matter locally.

Trustee Gerow is practically a new man on the board and in spite of the fact he has made good as a trustee. It is also to be hoped that he will allow his name to come before the people at the forthcoming elections.

Mr. Walter Jardine, representing the Hartt Boot and Shoe Co., of Fredericton, N. B., was a recent visitor here. This line of shoes is handled by Mr. W. S. Clark.

The Wainwright Realty Company purchased Mr. William Gallinger's homestead yesterday, this being the north west quarter of 18-46-5, located in the Gilt Edge district.

Mr. L. F. Brynes, of Edgerton, was a visitor in town last week.

WAINWRIGHT ALTA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8 1912

FARMERS throughout Canada are, in the majority of cases, paying more interest on their loans from banking institutions than those who borrow and offer security, which is of less value. The result is that the farmers are kept poor and the cost of living is not in any way decreased.

It is estimated that Canadian farmers pay millions of dollars annually in interest on loans, for which an average rate of about eight per cent is charged. The security, offered by farmers, is of the best and short datings are usually given the banks until the fall crop can be garnered in and sold in the markets of the world. The banks invariably consider that the farmer's security is very desirable and for this reason managers vie with one another in going after this class of loans. When a farmer needs money he needs it badly, and from the fact that he desires it for but a short time, he gladly submits to the usual bank interest and thinks nothing of it, whereas if he would stop and consider he would see that he is offering security for perhaps five times the amount of the loan he is making.

This high rate of interest to farmers is tending to keep up the high cost of living and at the same time to boost the price of every day commodities. The banks are the only ones to profit and still they continue to wonder why the cost of living does not show a downward tendency.

SO much has been said of the many evils, attached to dealing with mail order houses, that some hesitancy is naturally experienced when the subject is again discussed in a community where little or no attention is paid to what others are doing or saying in favor of the home merchant, who must bear the brunt of persistent pretenses and efforts on the part of such houses to shove to the wall the smaller dealers of the country.

The situation is and can be legitimately discussed from many viewpoints, chief of which is that in connection with the purpose the mail order houses have in view. To exterminate the country merchant is undoubtedly their chief aim, for by confining their inducements for business in their own community they would show their desire to reasonably distribute the trade of the country. This is exactly what they do not do, so it is only natural to assume that they wish the lion's share, have it at any cost and drive into oblivion the smaller dealers. Such gross greed should not escape the notice of those who expect their community to advance with swift and steady progress.

How great would be the exultation of mail order houses to blot out the town merchant can easily be pictured. They would then hold full sway, charge what they pleased for their goods and the outlying points would be compelled to pay any and all prices. That these houses seek this end is almost axiomatic. By continually sending out their catalogues, quoting prices for which the same goods can be bought in the city where they do business, is sufficient proof of their desire to eventually gain control. All fair minded people should think wisely and well before assisting these houses to secure the master hand.

WAINWRIGHT has now reached that age and extent of growth as to warrant the construction of a permanent post office and it is thought there is some truth in what has already been intimated of late to the effect that the erection of a building here is being contemplated.

This town, like many others throughout the west, deserves something better than a rough structure. Postmasters are compelled to select a building in which to receive and put out His Majesty's mail, due allowance for which is made in the salary attached to the position. The time has come when such arrangements prove unsatisfactory to the public and when they cease to do any great credit to a town. In many cases, the country post offices, where postmasters are paid a salary less than one hundred dollars per year, are of as creditable an aspect as those in towns of several thousand people.

The selection of a site for a permanent post office and an announcement to this effect by the federal authorities would prove highly favorable here, and in view of intimations to this effect in the past and the recognition that a building of this nature is needed it would only come as a natural sequence.

A matter, which, from first glance, might appear of small importance, and certainly not sufficiently so to warrant or require any comment through these columns, should, however, prove of some interest to the careless and neglectful farmer who allows his implements and farm machinery to remain out of doors and uncovered during the winter months.

The western farmer, in the majority of cases, pays little or no attention to the housing of his machinery and gives it no protection during the winter. Aside from what depreciation takes place during the summer, the damage from snow and frost and rust should have some consideration by the farmer.

An ordinary farmer has very little to say in favor of the various implement dealers, who, they claim, charge extortionate prices for everything they deal in, and to whom he is compelled to go for repairs and parts. Be this as it may, few farmers have any regard for economy and in the majority of cases can blame no one but themselves for continual expense for farm implements. If they would properly look after their machinery, they would not find it necessary to make so many visits to the machine men.

Numerous grain-growers have machinery worth anywhere from $150 to $1,000 and, from the poorest to the richest, how seldom do they take any care to house them from the elements. Nine farmers out of every ten do not see their implements during the winter for they are covered with snow. When they start to use them in the spring, they are coated with rust and have depreciated in value. An expenditure of a very few dollars for a shed would prove excellent economy and implement dealers would become more popular.

A MAIL ORDER TALK WITH THE HOUSEWIFE

Did you ever stop to figure out, Mrs. Housewife, when you wanted to purchase muslin, sheeting, gingham, or some article of staple merchandise how much of your husband's money you would save if you sat down and bought those articles from the catalogue houses? You'd come out in a bad hole, wouldn't you?

You say, "Oh, well, I wouldn't expect to buy that class of merchandise from a catalogue house; I'm not quite so green as all that. It is in waists, coats, suits and smaller articles of wearing apparel that I can save money on. Why, just look at the width of this ribbon they offer for 10 cents a yard. I can't touch it in town for less than 25 cents or 30 cents."

But did you ever stop to figure out, madame, that ribbons are ribbons, that the very ribbon you point out in that catalogue you would not pay 10 cents for if you saw it on the counters of the local store. Why, you could go to any of the large 10-cent and 15-cent stores and buy it for 15 cents.

You would say the same thing about that pretty waist (in the picture), yet if it were shown to you at the store you wouldn't even consider it.

SHOOTING SEASON DONE

The 1912 shooting season is about done, for the chicken season has closed and the greater part of the ducks and geese have started on their southern flight. With the number of birds killed this season, local sports should be satisfied to lay aside their guns.

WILL PURCHASE 1/2 SECTION

Mr. William Twobey, a former farmer of the Gilt Edge district, is in town and the probability is that he will go in for farming on a large scale with Mr. Henry Myers. They are at present negotiating for the purchase of a half section.

He went on to tell him of things he thought would be of interest to her uncle's guests—tells to the theatre—and a smile came to his face as he read. "You, she seemed to be a more personable."

"I believe you will rise in the service, and uncle, think so too. In years to come you will be a Governor with a K. O. M. D., and all sorts of decorations." "Uncle has been coming into the room, and he says I am to tell you to remember his advice. He asked him what it was, so that I might repeat it to you, but he said, don't be inquisitive. But he is a little more telling me everything, and to know all that you do. Won't you keep a diary and send it to me every week? I'll guard it so carefully and no one shall see it."

Goodbye and keep well.

Then there were a lot of words that had been carefully inked over. Yours affectionately,

JOAN REYMOUR

Basil wondered what the work might have been, and he had been so carefully done. He could not satisfy his curiosity. Almost at once he was told that he was to be long letter, the composition of which presented not the slightest difficulty. His everyday life was pictured minutely, and he told her of his difficulties and troubles.

Your letter came at a time when I had a most fearful fit of the blues. They have vanished, thanks to you, little one, and I hope that they will not return. Tell your uncle that I have happily followed his advice, and shall do so in the future, with God's help.

It was a lucky day for me when you gave me your first letter. Except one man, there is no one else who would care if I were to die, but don't think that I'm not fit. I am quite well, thank God. I know you will write, and I shall look forward to your letters. Goodbye, little one—Your affectionate friend, Basil.

He began to look forward to the mails, and Joan's letters became the one light in his life. It was easy to read between the lines the development that was taking place in his character, even in a few months and he noticed with what intelligence he commented upon what he told her about West Africa.

It was nine months before Basil had a really serious attack of malaria, and for several days he was delirious. But Basil was a reliable nurse, and like the majority of native servants, looked after him with devotion. The fever was bad enough, but the real trouble was the delirium, and the confusion of his mind. During these times that men die. During these months of Joan's illness had been a long and tedious one. Basil had been a great help to her, and he was now in a position to help her. He was now in a position to help her. He was now in a position to help her.

In the course of his recovery from his attack of fever, the only legacy he left was a small box of his private letters. He was now in a position to help her. He was now in a position to help her. He was now in a position to help her.

Why Should I Use Cuticura Soap?

"There is nothing the matter with my skin, and I thought Cuticura Soap was only for skin troubles." True, it is for skin troubles, but its great mission is to prevent skin troubles. For more than a generation its delicate emollient and prophylactic properties have rendered it the standard for this purpose, while its extreme purity and refreshing fragrance give it to all the advantages of the best of toilet soaps. It is also invaluable in keeping the hands soft and white, the hair alive and glossy, and the scalp free from dandruff and irritation. While its first cost is a few cents more than that of ordinary toilet soaps, it is prepared with such care and of such materials, that it wears to a water, often outlasting several cakes of other soap, and making its use, in practice, most economical. Cuticura Soap is sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, but the truth of these claims may be demonstrated without cost by sending to "Cuticura," Dept. 7M, Joston, U. S. A., for a liberal sample cake, together with a thirty-two page book on the skin and hair.

Do you believe that all men are created equal? I used to before I was married. And now? Now I find that I can't begin to compare with other women's husbands. First girl—So you're not engaged to him any longer? Second girl—Oh, no; I had to break it off. Why, what was the matter? The sleeping got so unsatisfactory. He was begging to get married. Human Hair-Nets

The annual sale of net of human hair, according to the report of the American Consul at Kehl, is estimated at 12,000,000. Hair-nets are made almost wholly in the houses of Alsatian and Austrian peasants. The people still required to net hair has become in part hereditary.

Reverberable Say, Uncle Zeke, have you been all the way to town and back so soon? No, say, I ain't even got dah yet. Well, sir, said the applicant, I rang the parish church bells for ten years. How's that for bel'n a pealer?

Following the Hounds Emily was a great cyclist, but had rarely been out of a horse. One day when staying with a sporting uncle he thought he would like to follow the hounds, which were to meet near a spot he borrowed from a young relative a horse which was not much accustomed to the hunting field. At first he went steadily until the horse, being startled by a rabbit darting from a clump of grass, broke into a mad gallop.

What are you doing, my lad, with your arm there? jokingly called out the muffled reply, but I can't find it.

Colored Pie A Westerner visiting in Boston, was surprised, when served with cold pie, to have it called Washington Pie. He made a mental note of this, and when in Washington asked a waiter for a slice of Washington pie. The waiter brought him a piece of chocolate cake. He eyed this for a moment and pushed it back, saying: No, no! I want George, not Booker T.

Suspicious of Germany Signor Rignetti, an agent of the Italian Government, who served with Italy in the war, told a newspaper man in that city that the Italian government was not so much the number of German immigrants pouring into Italy that alarmed the people there as the fact that few of these show any inclination of becoming naturalized.

The old-age pension office had a magnificent view of his own importance, and questioned the old lady with a seat that would have done credit to the reporter in search of a "scoop."

And now, he proceeded, drawing her to his left, he said, "I have been in receipt of partial relief for some time. Have you at any time been in the hands of the police?" The lady hung her head, and the officer smiled as much as to say, Got you.

Come, on come on, tell me the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, he commanded, fixing the woman with his steady eye.

Well, replied the applicant, I don't see that either you or the Government have any business to know, but I don't deny it. Girls will be girls, you know. But still, proudly—he was a peasant.

Cheapest of All Oils—Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Extract, the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public, it is to be found in every drug store in Canada. Truly carefully attended to, it is the most procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

An Elephant's Bath The elephant's bath takes a week to carry out in every detail. It requires the services of three men and costs about $10.

This treatment is necessary for a circus elephant and if the animal is valuable one the proprietor of the circus does not consider the money wasted. The first process consists in getting the elephant to the water, the best soap procurable, 150 lb. of soap is used, and the elephant's ears are especially carefully attended to.

When the soaping and drying are completed the elephant is well soaked and after that rubbed all over with the purest Indian oil until the monkey skin is supple and shining. The last finishing touch is the most expensive part of the whole bath, as over $40 has to be spent on the oil alone.

In illustration of the dreary Glasgow Sunday, a lecturer told this story of the late Mr. J. L. Toole. He was leaving his hotel in Glasgow one Sunday morning, when the sun was shining brightly. As he was strolling along George Square, a policeman hailed him suspiciously, and at last approached and said—

Ye had better tak' care, sir, what ye're doing. What am I doing? inquired Toole, and added, with a merry wink: Why, I'm not even whistling.

No, replied the Glasgowman, in solemn and reproving tones, but ye're looking most as happy as if it were Monday.

Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in Cows No, said the uncle. Then you would not be much good to send to buy eggs, chuckled the small one.

In the treatment of summer complaints the most effective remedy is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's "Century Cordial." It is a standard preparation, and every people can use it in preference to other preparations. It is a highly concentrated medicine and its sedative and curative qualities are beyond question. It has been a popular medicine for many years and is now being used in the most successful manner in overcoming dysentery and kindred complaints.

I suppose you do a bigger trade when it rains than when it doesn't rain? No, I don't notice any difference, said the umbrella dealer. But you get better prices when it rains, don't you? Why should I? Why umbrellas go up, don't they?

The Wheat (Minnie J. Reynolds in New Work Press) The wheat valley, thousands of hills, a thousand valleys floors, is heaped in mellow richness where the sun of August pours.

Far as the wondering eye can see The yellow stacks extend, And melt against the distant blue Where sky and mountain blend.

The pointed first stand guard above The wealth poured at their feet, And still it rills over the land The wheat and wheat and wheat.

O yellow wheat, you take your way To distant lands and far; To teeming cities, foreign shores, Where hungry millions are.

But are you to feed a world, Let me hear your beauty cease, One moment with your beauty feed The heart and mind of man.

Judge—Five dollars fine for exceeding the speed limit. Offender—But I was only going three miles an hour. Judge—Then it's ten dollars for obstructing the highway.

ANIMALS AGES

Whales Live for 1000 Years Undoubtedly the longest-lived animal on earth is the whale, its span of existence being estimated by Cuvier at 1,000 years. The next largest animal, the elephant, will, under favorable conditions, live 400 years.

When Alexander the Great conquered Persia, King of India, he took a great elephant that had fought gallantly for the defeated king, named him Ajax, dedicated him to the sun, and placed upon him a metal band with the inscription, "Alexander, the son of Jupiter, dedicated Ajax to the sun."

The average age of cats is fifteen years; of squirrels, seven or eight years; of rabbits, seven; a bear rarely exceeds twenty years; a wolf twenty; a fox, fourteen to sixteen. Lions are comparatively long-lived, instances having been recorded, where they reached the age of seventy years.

Pigs have been known to live to the age of twenty years and horses to sixty, but the average age of the horse is twenty years. Some horses sometimes live to the age of a hundred, and stags are very long-lived.

Whether or not this stag had actually lived since the days of one of the Caesars is impossible to say, but the evidence seems good.

Eagles commonly and ravens frequently live to a hundred years, and swans have been known to live 300 years. A tortoise has been known to live 1,000 years.

Efforts have been made to connect the rapidity of the pulse-beat with longevity, but no logical conclusion can be reached as will be seen from the fact that the pulse of a lion beats in a minute, that of a tiger, ninety-six times a minute; of a horse, forty times; of a wolf, forty-five times; of a bear, thirty-three times; and of an eagle, 100 times. It has been imagined that the pulse of a man is a fair index of his life, but that of a butterfly beats sixty times to the minute.

Reflections of a Bachelor A girl wants to love a fine man, so she looks for him that comes along. She looks for him that comes along. She looks for him that comes along.

Reform makes more noise and does less business than anything else in the world. If you think you are right, go ahead; but don't be disappointed if your grand old reform is not successful.

Some girls must dread the idea of becoming old maids. Otherwise they wouldn't marry the kind of men they do.

Unfounded Suspicion Shortly after marrying a young man whose wife was very jealous, found his domestic felicity often marred by her constant suspicion. He was a few minutes later at his wife's home a few minutes later at his wife's home.

He hoped to cure his bride of her silly fault. He got his bride, Jones to the station, and she was waiting for him. He was waiting for her. He was waiting for her.

His wife's station thrust the telegraph into the station. He was waiting for her. He was waiting for her. He was waiting for her.

Turning round the husband came face to face with the aggrieved wife. He was waiting for her. He was waiting for her. He was waiting for her.

A Happy Outlook In Detroit they tell of a young man who, although he had made a great deal of money, was always in debt because of his extravagance. Not long ago, however, he won and a young woman of great wealth, and immediately things took on a rosy hue.

During the honeymoon the bride ventured to ask hubby whether the fact that she had money made any difference to him.

To be sure it does, my love, was the unexpected response. Whereupon hubby was a bit alarmed.

What difference? she asked. Why, darling, continued the husband, it is a comfort to know that if I should die you'd be provided for.

And if I should die? added the bride. Then, darling, was the reply, I'd be provided for.

It was due to the clamor raised by the Hearst papers that the United States Government, which had been the Panama Canal. It was partly due to the uproar which followed the fact that the war with Spain was declared, and this section of the press was practically silent in urging that there should be discrimination in favor of American shipping.

Son of Athens, ere we part, Ere to shine my shoes we start, Ere you start your polish bright, Ere your brush begins to whiz, List to my appeal forthwith— Please go easy on my corn!

Binds More Sheaves with Less Twine

Plymouth Binder Twine is made right. It works smoothly, the property, and the last of the ball feeds as freely as the first. No knots or breaks. Fifty per cent stronger than the strain of any machine actually requires.

PLYMOUTH Binder Twine

is used more than any other twine because it is known to be the best. Made by the oldest cordage establishment in the United States, where quality and honesty are spun into every ball of twine. RICH SOIL GOOD CROPS

This is a fact which every farmer knows. He also knows that a machine that will aid him in producing rich soil is a safe and economical purchase.

THE CORN KING MANURE SPREADER
is the machine that will aid you, Mr. Farmer, to increase the crop production of a very square foot of your farm. It spreads the manure evenly over all the soil, bringing a part of the manure in contact with every particle of the soil. When manure is spread by hand this cannot be done, and some of the soil is starved while other portions of it are overfed. The spreading of the soil is the only reason why every farmer should own a Corn King manure spreader.

THE CORN KING MANURE SPREADER
was designed by men who are thoroughly acquainted with farm machine requirements. The material from which it is constructed is selected for durability and strength. Any one that can drive a team can operate the Corn King. It transforms one of the most dreaded jobs on the farm into a pleasant one. It saves time, as one man can spread as much manure with the Corn King as five men can spread by hand. If you are going to purchase a manure spreader this season, do not forget to call and examine the Corn King before doing so.

On the Job
In a quiet little country town, so quiet that the silence hurt a commercial traveler entered the general store. Going through to the parlor he saw the back of a man and a friend having a game of checkers.

Here, Mr. Bloom, he said in an energetic whisper, there are two customers in the shop.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one criminal case in which the law has been able to secure a conviction. The only person who has been convicted is a man named John Doe, who was found guilty of the crime of murder.

How did you bring your son up to be so obedient and dutiful?

I made them my discipline. I tried to be entirely just, and I loved them to death, was the answer.

So long as your children are in the cause and accompaniment of the discipline you need not be afraid that they will drift away from you, if you make justice one of the foundations of your training.

Begin with your tiny baby and, as you drill him in regular habits of eating, sleeping, and dressing, train him in the method of obedience. When the time comes—as it may—when he will attempt a small revolt, don't give way, but hold your own. Avoid issues as much as possible, but when they come meet them squarely.

A Sea Sandstorm
With its decks covered with an inch or more of sand, the officers and crew looking as if they returned from a desert trip, the schooner Alvena, twenty-seven days from Columbia River, in command of Captain Abramson, arrived in San Diego, Cal., recently. While the vessel was coming down the coast under a wind seventy-five miles off shore and 155 miles north of San Diego, it became enveloped in a cloud of fine sand. The sea was smooth and the wind from the south-east. The dust seemed to drop from the sky.

This condition prevailed for two days, according to the crew, and until Point Loma was sighted did they get out of the dust. From that time until the schooner got into port the crew was busy sweeping off the accumulated sand off the lumber cargo and decks, and getting the fine particles of grit out of their eyes and hair.—McCall's Magazine.

DRY FARMING CONGRESS

The Annual Convention to be Held at Lethbridge This Year, Attracting Attention

Dry-farming means better farming according to the official call of the International Dry-Farming Congress, the annual convention of the dry-farmers of the world, which meets October 12-25 next at Lethbridge, in Southern Alberta, in the heart of one of the greatest grain belts.

The designation of the term "dry-farming," which is coming into general use everywhere and of which thousands have never learned the essentials, is a logical and the adaptation of the precepts has brought reward to those farmers who have looked to science to aid them where nature and hard luck through unfavorable weather conditions pursued their neighbors.

It is argued that it was only through her influence that Nelson went to sea again and so fought and won his greatest victory at Trafalgar. He had formerly desired to settle down to a country life, but Lady Hamilton persuaded him to make one more dash in the service of his country.

Those who oppose the transfer suggest that the motive was not patriotic, but a desire for a little more money, and they add that although the mother really had a property of $20,000 a year of her own she was not exactly starving when she died.

What do you think of this scheme of having the countries exchange children?

An English family, for instance, exchanges children for a couple of months with a German family. The two sets of children get a chance to learn another language. References are exchanged and all that sort of thing.

It's an elegant scheme. My little son has a Russian playmate who is a really little like to see exchanged with some family in Siberia.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

PROF. R. W. THATCHER

The summer months are the most dangerous to little ones. The complaints of that season which are infantile colic, diarrhoea and dysentery come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes the danger.

The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles or if they do come on suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid as the mother during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets.

Royal's Relics
Notwithstanding the efforts of stewards to keep track of the royal relics, such things turn up in odd places from time to time. For instance the Victoria's pocket watch which is said to have worn on her wedding day and a piece of orange blossom from the bride bouquet were found in a number of royal bits and scraps.

TARDY HONORS FOR LADY HAMILTON

An extraordinary proposal has been made, namely in good faith, to exhum the remains of Emma, Lady Hamilton, from her grave in Calais and transport them to Westminster Abbey.

The argument is that Nelson was brought here to the country, and sentimentalists think some amends for letting her die in poverty may be made by burying her nearly a century later in the "national Valhalla."

It is argued that it was only through her influence that Nelson went to sea again and so fought and won his greatest victory at Trafalgar. He had formerly desired to settle down to a country life, but Lady Hamilton persuaded him to make one more dash in the service of his country.

Those who oppose the transfer suggest that the motive was not patriotic, but a desire for a little more money, and they add that although the mother really had a property of $20,000 a year of her own she was not exactly starving when she died.

What a Rat Will Do

Almost unbelievable are some of the things that a rat will do, the squeaking, filth, gluttonous, all-pervading and all-consuming brown rat. Bats often enter the homes of human beings. They will fight human beings if cornered. They often steal valuable property to help them in building nests.

The following were found in a single room. Three bed-room towels, two serviettes, two dust cloths, two pairs of linen knickerbockers, six linen pocket handkerchiefs, and one with handkerchiefs. This rat, which was a model of industry and thrift, had carried away and stored near its nest 14 1/2 lbs. of sugar, a pudding, a stalk of celery, a beet, carrots, turnips and potatoes.

In the last dozen years over 5,000,000 human beings have died of plague and cholera, and the disease is entirely dependent on the disease of the rat.

Marvelous in its destructiveness in the human household, the rat is equally destructive in the field. It is highly destructive, the most destructive of all the rodents.

Save One for Her
Edith was light-hearted and merry and she was the eye and soul of the party. So one day her mother decided to invite a very serious young person to dinner, and he was placed next the light-hearted girl. Everything went well until she asked him to speak of everybody having a mission.

What is yours?
My mission, said the parson, is to save your soul. Thank you, replied the girl, I'm glad to meet you. I wish you'd save one for me.

Geo. Ham's Laundry
T. story is told of a party of eastern manufacturers who were making a trip through the Canadian Northwest. The train was running about three hours late and it was essential that they reach a certain point A—on time to make train connections without delay.

As they proceeded however, the train lost more time and the manufacturers began to get nervous. They hunted up the conductor and had him interview the crew, but there was no gain in speed.

Stopping point they interviewed the crew personally and threatened to telegraph Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, but this had no effect.

Finally a happy thought struck one of the Montreal travellers. He knew that George Ham was travelling in the west with an English party.

He knew that George Ham always came on board and that the laundry was on board and the conductor had him send a note to the laundry driver that George Ham's laundry was on board and that the laundry must reach him at A—in time to deliver it to him. The hint was given and the train began to move again and three minutes ahead of time.

Power From the Tides
Study has been made of a proposition for generating power for Schlegel-Holstein by utilizing the ebb and flow of the tide, and the power of the island of Nordstrand being connected with the mainland by a high-water reservoir of 1,500 acres and a low-water reservoir of 1,250 acres. There will also be a head of water in one or other of the reservoirs, which will be available for operating turbines constantly.

In the causes of infant mortality the mother is the figure prominently. It may be said that complaints of the bowels are great destroyers of life, and all mothers would avail themselves of so effective a remedy as Dr. J. K. Kellogg's Dysentery and Bowel Complaint Syrup.

This Cordial can be given with safety to the smallest child, as there is no injurious substance in it.

The meanest man in England has just been discovered. A cottager was asked by his wife to go to the post office and buy a packet of soap. He returned and after digging for a few minutes he found the soap, remarking that he had found it.

He was just about to devour his spoil when a civilian who had seen him left came up and told him that he was a thief and to get out of the house. The man was so taken aback that he forgot to eat the soap and made no attempt to resist. He implored the amateur to forgive him to the stationer, where he was duly released by his larceny and is now awaiting trial.

Water—Well sir, how do you find the water?

Diner—Oh! I happened to shift my foot, and well, there it was.—Bystander.

Size of Future Ships
Sir John Lubbock, a leading naval architect, declared recently that the facts that tend to limit the increase in the size of ships are chiefly cost and tonnage. Large ships cost more to build than small ones, and are more expensive to operate.

Not sure of obtaining their complements of passengers or cargo without delay, the new vessels of the Canadian Seed Growers' association, Lordship president of the association, to be given to the boy or girl having the best exhibit of oats in the maritime provinces, Quebec and Ontario, and wheat in each of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Those proposing to compete for these prizes and trophies should arrange at once to make arrangements for the necessary selections and should also write to the secretary of the Canadian Seed Growers' association, Ottawa, and obtain a copy of the prize list and special arrangements regarding the transportation of exhibits.

Geo. Ham's Laundry
T. story is told of a party of eastern manufacturers who were making a trip through the Canadian Northwest. The train was running about three hours late and it was essential that they reach a certain point A—on time to make train connections without delay.

As they proceeded however, the train lost more time and the manufacturers began to get nervous. They hunted up the conductor and had him interview the crew, but there was no gain in speed.

Stopping point they interviewed the crew personally and threatened to telegraph Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, but this had no effect.

Finally a happy thought struck one of the Montreal travellers. He knew that George Ham was travelling in the west with an English party.

He knew that George Ham always came on board and that the laundry was on board and the conductor had him send a note to the laundry driver that George Ham's laundry was on board and that the laundry must reach him at A—in time to deliver it to him. The hint was given and the train began to move again and three minutes ahead of time.

Power From the Tides
Study has been made of a proposition for generating power for Schlegel-Holstein by utilizing the ebb and flow of the tide, and the power of the island of Nordstrand being connected with the mainland by a high-water reservoir of 1,500 acres and a low-water reservoir of 1,250 acres. There will also be a head of water in one or other of the reservoirs, which will be available for operating turbines constantly.

In the causes of infant mortality the mother is the figure prominently. It may be said that complaints of the bowels are great destroyers of life, and all mothers would avail themselves of so effective a remedy as Dr. J. K. Kellogg's Dysentery and Bowel Complaint Syrup.

This Cordial can be given with safety to the smallest child, as there is no injurious substance in it.

A Voice of Experience
I can't understand why married couples are so often quarrelsome. I don't see why those matters can't be so adjusted that there will be no quarrelling between a husband and I understand each other thoroughly.

How long have you been married?
Nearly three days.—Judge.
